Physical advantages proven through more than 5,000 clinical cases...

- Denser, thus allowing thinner veneers and better color refraction and bonding qualities.
- Abrasion resistance twice that of methylmethacrylates—insuring longer life.
- Water absorption—one-third that of acrylics—thus, greater dimensional stability, elimination of unpleasant odors, seepage and discoloration.
- Impervious to alcohol absorption—Luxene .51 (% wt.)—acrylics, 8-10 (% wt.).
- LUXENE VINYL is tougher—allowing exposed anterior incisal edges.

Luxene Crown and Bridgework requires no change in your present procedure, however, the use of the Luxene Standard and the Luxene Characterized shade guides are essential for maximum results.

Mail Order Dental Laboratory Owner Found Guilty

In a four-day jury trial held before the Hon. Richard B. Austin, Judge of the United States District Court for Northern Illinois, Eastern Division, Lester B. Patterson, doing business as Clinical Dental Laboratory, 335 W. Madison Street, Chicago, was found guilty on two counts of an indictment charging violations of the Federal Denture Law known as the Traynor Act. This law prohibits selling dentures through the mails in states where it is unlawful for unlicensed persons to practice Dentistry.

Two elderly gentlemen (one 82 years of age) testified that they had ordered so-called reliner kits from the Clinical Dental Laboratory. They received boxes containing tubes of liquid material, instructions on how to place this material into the tissue-contact sides of their old dentures, and to place these dentures into their mouths and keep them there until the material had hardened. The so-called relined dentures then were returned to Clinical Dental Laboratory where they were processed. New dentures resulted and these were mailed to the two witnesses. One witness was from Shingleton, Michigan and the other from Wyoming, Illinois.

Although Patterson's attorney attempted in many ways to show that the tubes contained a reliner and not an impression material, the prosecution was able to show that regardless of what the material might originally have been intended for, it actually was used as impression material and resulted in new dentures being made.

Patterson testified that he had owned Clinical Dental Laboratory since about 1953 and that during that period of time has served about 25,000 denture customers. He stated that he had more than a thousand testimonial letters in his files. He further testified that he was engaged in a general mail order business involving a variety of items. Testimony of a witness showed that Patterson spends somewhere between fifty thousand and a hundred thousand dollars yearly for national advertising.

In addition to placing display ads in many nationally circulated magazines, Clinical Dental Laboratory mailed colored lithographed advertising materials, testimonial letters, price lists, instructions for taking impressions, and a money-back guarantee to its prospective customers.

The indictment against Patterson was returned by the Federal Grand Jury in 1956. A criminal case was filed in that year and subsequently a new action was filed in 1959. This is the case which was tried the week of November 25th. Patterson's conviction is the third to be secured under the provisions of the Federal Denture Law.

A motion for retrial is to be heard by Judge Austin on December 26th. Assistant United States District Attorney, Stuart J. Templeton, Jr., presented the case for the Government.

Workshop on Adhesive Restorative Dental Materials

(The paper which follows is a summary of the discussions which took place during a workshop held in Indianapolis, Indiana, September 28 and 29, 1961. It is being presented here for your information so as to keep our membership up-to-date on what is new in dental materials. This copy was prepared by Dr. Ralph Phillips, Professor, University of Indiana Dental School, and by Dr. Gunnar Ryge, Professor at Marquette University Dental School.—E. Ebert.)

It has long been recognized that one of the dental research areas deserving a high priority for expanded investigation is that concerned with the development of a restorative material or cement which will adhere to tooth structure.

To explore the current knowledge and to establish recommendations for future fruitful research, an initial workshop was held on September 28 and 29, 1961 at Indianapolis, Indiana. The plans for the workshop originated in the Dental Study Section, Division of Research Grants, National Institute of Health, and the workshop was sponsored through a grant from the National Institute of Dental Research, U. S. Public Health Service to Indiana University. Twenty-eight active participants discussed (a) Tooth Structure, (b) Principles of Adsorption and Adhesion in an Aqueous Environment, and (c) Materials and Test Methods. Observers from the Public Health Service, the Armed Forces, and from the Council on Dental Research of the American Dental Association were also present.

The exchange of knowledge and ideas by these experts in the various fields pointed up critical areas in which basic knowledge is deficient. These discussions led to a number of specific recommendations in regard to the direction which future research should take.

(1) There is a need for increased knowledge of the tooth surface since it is enamel and dentin to which an intimate union must be attained. Additional information regarding apatite chemistry, the mechanism of recrystallization and formation of secondary dentin would be most helpful.

(2) The possibility was suggested that an actual chemical bonding may not be essential and that forces of adsorption might be quite adequate for attaining the intimate relationship desired between the restoration and the tooth. It was the opinion of the experts in the area that moisture in the tooth is the greatest deterrent to securing adhesion. Thus future research must include studies on how to wet a tooth surface and maintain that wetting. In this vein it was also pointed out that true adhesion can best be achieved only on very smooth surfaces which are free of debris since small bubbles or discrepancies in the film destroy the adhesion.

(3) A number of resin systems for bonding with both the organic and inorganic portions of the tooth were discussed. It was the general consensus that greater possibilities lay in bonding to the inorganic structure of the tooth and that future work should probably be beamed in this direction. In these studies it was emphasized that the "geometry" of the entire system must be taken into consideration. Among other things this would include volume shrinkage occurring during polymerization of resinous materials and the form of the cavity preparation in order that stress at the junction of the tooth and restorative material could be minimized.

(4) All present agreed that there is a definite need for the development of better and standardized test procedures for assessing adhesion. The feasibility of developing a standardized surface for testing adhesion was discussed along with the merits of marginal penetration tests

TWO CALIFORNIANS WIN DENTSPLY SCHOLARSHIPS

Charles E. Cummings and Alan R. Ried, both of Los Angeles, were chosen to receive the 1961-1962 Dentists' Supply Company Scholarships in Dental Laboratory Technology, William R. Mann, D.D.S., Chairman of the Scholarship Committee of the Fund for Dental Education, has announced.

Mr. Cummings and Mr. Ried are both enrolled at the University of California Extension Division School for Dental Laboratory Technicians.

JACKSON AGENCY TO REPRESENT SOCIETY OF DENTISTRY FOR CHILDREN

The American Society of Dentistry for Children has appointed The Julian J. Jackson Agency, Chicago, as its national public relations counsel, effective January 1, 1962. At that time a national campaign will be launched by the ASDC in promotion of dentistry for children.

The Jackson Agency has represented the Chicago Dental Society for more than twenty years and is well known for its public relations programs in the dental field.

The aims of the American Society of Dentistry for Children are to encourage more and better practice of dentistry for children; to promote through education of parents the importance of dentistry for children; and to inform the public of the practical preventive measures available through dentistry for children.

Membership in the Society is open to all members of the American Dental Association, the Canadian Dental Association and other recognized dental associations, and application may be made to The American Society of Dentistry for Children, care of Dr. C. F. Tuma, Executive Secretary, 7701 Fitzwater Road, Cleveland 41, Ohio.

"Doctor, may I wait until after Christmas to have my work done?" I suppose many of you are hearing this now. Maybe that's why so many are going on vacation. Jim Daly and Henry Freitag went to the upper peninsula of Michigan. They bagged one buck, naturally the big one got away. Since Henry had the most experience, he was in charge of starting and keeping the log fires going. I understand that (luckily for both) it wasn't too cold. . . . Howard Strange was in California but came back anyway. . . . Herm Gornstein is leaving for Mexico, and is being accompanied by (of all people) Cliff Lyons, who has a very nice year-round vacation spot. Maybe those of you who like Mexico can make a deal. . . . Milt Braun is travelling to Puerto Rico to lecture. See how far people can go after they have appeared before our group. . . . Asher Sherow and David Torch couldn't afford a trip, but then they are leaving their old office (two years) and moving into Homewood's modern medical-dental mecca, and right now this is definitely not considered a vacation. . . . Naturally, Taylor Bell is off again, New York or some such place. . . . Eric Rhind can't shake the habit, so he is off for Florida for three months. . . . Sherm Teeling was just there. . . . Bill Seidel is another to prove that X-rays definitely do not easily cause sterility, at least he now has five offspring to support his stand. Kathleen Marie is the name of their latest little one. . . . Bill Slavin joins the group now with his third. . . . Irwin Chaiken will soon be a member of the club, too. . . . Shelly Wallach—no baby—no vacation equals new car and a wagon at that. . . . St. James' staff has elected its new officers (at least I think they did). When the smoke cleared from the battle, Art Chun was the new President, Don Murphy, the new Vice-President and James Jensen, the new Secretary-Treasurer. What with the new clinic, equipment and things, the organization is suffering with growing pains and, thank goodness, is aware that new methods are necessary for the greater scope that the staff now encounters. This healthy attitude is bound to bring out not only ideas for improvement, but solutions as well. Good luck, St. James! . . . In fact, fellas, I wish you all a happy holiday, good luck, and the ability to accomplish, at the minimum, one worthwhile deed for mankind in the next year.—Francis H. Wright, Branch Correspondent.

West Side

Our West Side group is a vigorous one and thrives upon its sincerity and enthusiasm. Enthusiasm is not merely an outward expression but rather a wonderful quality that is contagious and brings out ideas and discussions from our constituents at each of our meetings. You fellows who stay away are depriving yourselves of something beneficial and worthwhile. . . . Bob Bailey, who has not been around for many a meeting, was given a standing ovation. Come again; we need you. . . . Greetings to Max Kaye, another of our members who came to our last meeting. . . . Charlie Williams was presented with his credentials as a new member of our branch. Congratulations. . . . It is a joy to report on our excellent dinner and exciting meeting for the month of November. Fred Bazola reported on the last meeting of the A.D.A. The hot subject pertained to limited activity for the dental hygienist and also on the agenda were discussions on the requirements for specialization. With reference to broadening the scope of the dental hygienist, our four delegates all voted in opposition. The House of Delegates passed a measure allowing acceptance of government funds for the advancement of dentistry. Harold Epstein, our Director, reported that the

Dental Society will make arrangements to take care of all dental emergencies seven days a week. This will be done by the dentists on a voluntary basis. More on this later. Sam Kleiman gave a stirring talk on the importance of assistance for political figures and political hopefuls who are favorably disposed toward dentistry. What we need are more dentists in the legislature to represent us. . . . If you see a beautiful woman driving a new Mercury with a handsome gigolo beside her, just remember it's Fred Carroll and his wife. . . . Our thanks to Arthur Elfenbaum for a most inspiring talk. He was, as always, very informative and we acquired new knowledge through his teachings. Before the lecture, in walked Joe Josh, Sam Goldberg and Eugene Schklair—the Three Musketeers—who came to fight the battle of the lamina dura. . . . Bill Weese, son of Carl, has been accepted as a freshman at the University of Michigan. Good luck for a happy college career. . . . Frank LaPata has a son, Robert, who is a junior at Marquette University in the School of Medicine. Our best wishes. . . . Our Treasurer, Oscar Berman, is on an extensive trip in Hawaii. We hope he has a wonderful vacation and will be sure to bring back a lei for us. . . . We have in our midst a banker, who has to divide his day between dentistry and banking. Casimir Lazarski is president of the Krakow Savings and Loan Company. If you have any extra funds, Casimir can use them. . . . Richard Leavitt has two daughters attending college. Daughter Laura is a senior at the University of Arizona on a scholarship and Diana is at Long Beach State College, California. It is a blessing to have children who seek higher education. . . . Al Levin and family vacationed in Canada and enjoyed the grandeur of that vast country. . . . The November edition of Oral Hygiene had an article on "Limited Reciprocity, Employment, and Social Security for Retired Dentists," by Henry Reiseman. It is an interesting approach and if you can be of any aid to help promote the idea, please write to Dr. Henry Reiseman, 5203 W. 25th

Street, Cicero 50, Illinois. . . . Sam and Mrs. Kleiman celebrated their thirty-fifth anniversary. To celebrate the occasion they will attend the New York meeting on December 3rd and will continue to be festive and visit Las Vegas between Christmas and New Year. Corporeally speaking, Sam may be the head of the family, but his wife is the heart in it. Congratulations. . . . Your correspondent and his wife, Sonya, are also celebrating number thirty-eight on the 23rd of December. . . . Because of the nearness of the holidays, may we at this time wish many of our members good will in the Spirit of Christmas and to others of our group convey the blessings of the dedication of Hanukkah, known as the Feast of Lights. To all our group and their dear ones, we hope and pray that the New Year will bring us health, happiness, and peace; peace for us and all the peoples of the earth.—*Morey A. By the way, Warren, congratulations on winning the Toastmaster-of-the-Year award at your club. . . . Mark Reardon still has that faraway look in his eyes. That six-month sojourn in eleven countries of Europe has left a certain indubitable mark (excuse, please) on Mark. . . . Cornelius McNulty has retired from active practice and is sorely missed by his colleagues. . . . Franklin Otto is very happy with his latest Otto-mobile, a New Yorker Chrysler which he is sporting (supporting??) about town. N.U.D.S. FEBRUARY COURSE ON RADIOGRAPHY

The Northwestern University Dental School's division of graduate and postgraduate study has opened its February course titled "Basic Cephalometric Radiography" to any dentist, whether a specialist or general practitioner, who wants the information. Until now, course enrollment was limited to orthodontists.

Eugene W. Skinner, director of the division at Northwestern, said that while cephalometric radiography was originally developed as a tool for the orthodontist, "the subject has so broadened that it now is ready to contribute to all phases of dentistry in which mandibular function is of importance."

The Northwestern offering is scheduled for February 12, 13 and 14, under John R. Thompson, D.D.S., M.S.D., professor of orthodontics.

Further information regarding tuition, etc., may be obtained from the Division of Graduate and Postgraduate Study, Northwestern University Dental School, 311 E. Chicago Avenue, Chicago.

BRAND OF MEPIVACAIN HCl

THE SELECT ANESTHETICS FOR ROUTINE USE...

Today CARBOCAINE enjoys wide professional acceptance in routine dental procedures. With two solutions now available, the dentist has a choice of preparations to meet all the anesthetic needs of his daily practice:

- (1) CARBOCAINE 3% Without Vasoconstrictor—Used routinely for anesthesia of shorter duration as in high-speed restorative procedures...simple extractions...children's dentistry—and where vasoconstricting agents are contraindicated;
- (2) CARBOCAINE 2% With Neo-Cobefrin[®] 1:20,000—for longer lasting anesthesia as in oral and periodontal surgery...quadrant dentistry...pulp canal work.

Rapid acting, well tolerated, with a wide margin of safety—it's CARBOCAINE in any case...that's the long and short of it!

and investigations of the strength of surface films.

In general, the conclusions of the workshop indicate that while there are many obstacles to the development of an adhesive restorative material, the problems are quite definitely not insurmountable.

The entire Proceedings of the workshop were transcribed and will be published. Copies will be available to interested persons or institutions upon publication. Requests should be directed to the Chairman of the Workshop, Professor Ralph W. Phillips, Indiana University School of Dentistry, or to the Co-chairman, Professor Gunnar Ryge, Marquette University School of Dentistry. Copies of the Proceedings will be sent to all dental schools.

wives should always be aware of the details of finance and investments (I understand they are usually the ones who spend most of our money) your Board of Directors has designated Jan. 9 as "Ladies Night" and all members and their wives are invited to attend this stimulating program. There will be plenty of time allotted for questions. Because of the enthusiastic response at our last meeting to the hot buffet dinner set up by the Country Store Restaurant, 6162 N. Broadway, our Jan. 9 meeting will again be held there and they have assured us of an even more sumptuous dinner. Call our Secretary, Dick Pipia, LO 1-1243, for reservations if you are planning to bring your wife or if you do not have a season dinner ticket.

Now for our REPORT FROM MEXICO: Thirty-one persons left Chicago on Nov. 8 to attend the VI Biennial Congress of the Mexican Dental Association and to visit some of the beauty spots in that country. We had a most exciting, wonderful vacation which was acclaimed by all as the most enjoyable trip ever experienced, even by our most worldly travelers. Everyone is anxious to make a return visit. a fitting and final climax following almost a year of preparation with many social get-togethers to formulate our plans. We met many new and unusual experiences which will live in our memories for many years. Our travel agents, guides and drivers were always most careful and considerate of our welfare. One unusual experience occurred almost immediately upon our arrival in Mexico. As planned, we were met at the airport and loaded with our baggage into our private bus for transportation to the beautiful spa of San Jose de Purua. But just before we were to drive off, a policeman, armed with pliers and screwdriver, approached the front of our bus and calmly removed the front license plate. Our travel agents, guide and two drivers then disappeared with the policeman into the tremendous airport terminal building. An open conference in Spanish with much gesticulating was then held by about twenty officials. Finally the license was replaced. But all 31 of us had to leave the bus and drive in private taxis two miles, followed by the empty bus and then, on the open road, reload into the bus. Of course we found out during this time that only taxis were allowed to pick up passengers in front of the Airport Building and therefore our bus had violated the law. Our group, all being good sports, enjoyed the incident as a new experience in a new country. One thing we learned was that one way of assuring compliance with the law and payment of fines was the physical removal of the license plates of traffic violators. Apparently screwdrivers and pliers are standard equipment for traffic policemen in Mexico. We all enjoyed the "Banos" (baths) at San Jose and Ixtapan. Taxco, Acapulco and Oaxaca were superb. But Mexico City and the Dental Meeting were the crowning glory. The Mexican dentists were extremely pleased with our attendance and most helpful and courteous. The opening sessions were translated into English through earphones. A new Professional Code of Ethics was adopted which "established the obligation of the dentist to respect authority, to respect the law, to fulfill his social service, pay his taxes, fulfill the sanitary requirements, to fulfill his electoral and jury functions, as well as to respect religious creeds of his colleagues, of his patients and of society in general." The code emphasized that the dentist should exercise his profession with honesty, honor and due efficiency. It points out that he has duties to himself, to his family, to society and the Nation. . . . To hear more about this fascinating trip come to the meeting on Jan. 9 at the Country Store Restaurant and talk with any of the members who were fortunate enough to participate. See you Tuesday, Jan. 9.—Earl S. Elman, Branch Correspondent.

in all mine was a very enjoyable and educational trip. While walking among the ruins of Rome and Pompeii, I couldn't help but feel a "temporary union" with the early Romans who became famous, or infamous, at those very locations some two thousand years ago. Then, of course, there was Hofburg Palace, St. Stephan's Cathedral, the Opera House, and the famous woods of Vienna. In Paris, the Louvre Museum, Eiffel Tower, Arc d' Triomphe, Notre Dame Cathedral and Comedie Francaise all were breathtaking. In Vienna, I checked into the meeting of the Austrian Dental Society and examined their exhibits. I sighted a familiar face at the meeting, and greeted Dr. Harold Hillenbrand from Chicago. At Paris, the Society of Odontology was holding its annual meeting and I again "mixed business with pleasure." Some of the foreign dental units and equipment are really impressive and modern. But what would we do for parts and maintenance? The exhibition hall in Paris is very modernistic and new. The most humorous parts of my trip were the frequent exchanges of currency, going from one country to another—shillings, pesetas, francs, lira, marks, and Austrian shillings. What a panic! I still have coins left over from each country; nice souvenirs, I suppose. Between the historic sights and the dental meetings, I did manage to see some of the "local color" in each city—Monte Carlo in Monaco, Via Veneto in Rome, wine and beer stubes in Vienna, and, of course, the Montmartre section of Paris with the infamous Place Pigalle. WOW!!

... Now for branch news. Don't discard your November issue of Oral Hygiene until you have thoroughly read the article titled "Limited Reciprocity, Employment and Social Security for Retired Dentists." This very informative article was written by Henry Reiseman, 5203 W. 25th St., Cicero, a West Suburban member. Dr. Reiseman is interested in presenting these ideas to the Board of Trustees of the A.D.A., to the House of Delegates, and to the Association of Dental Examiners. In order to do this, he must have a certain number of written notes of approval, received from members of the dental profession. If any of us would be interested in seeing Henry's ideas enacted, don't hesitate to send your words of approval to him at the above address. ... It was some time ago but Barney Siegrist and Harold Firfer were hunting in South Dakota. Between them they bagged thirty-six pheasants. Pretty good considering they were using the "guns of Navarrone" with oo scatter shot (could this be?). ... Move over Dr. Schweitzer, you have competition. Al Gierze also is an accomplished organist. He practices daily. Is it true he hires out for church weddings? ... Another West Suburbanite has joined the "coronary club." J. T. Hanson is the new member. Speedy recovery, buddy. ... More travel news from Dale Chastek. He and his wife flew to Rochester, New York, where Dale attended the annual meeting of the North-eastern Association of Orthodontists last October. Isn't education wonderful. ... Another orthodontist is going to travel, Contrary to the popularly held concept, there are student vacancies in the dental schools of America—the Fall 1959 freshman class had 130 vacancies. This represents 130 dentists who will not be trained and ready to practice four years hence. It represents millions of future patient visits which will be denied to the public.

What's the answer? Were there not enough well-prepared people in college last year to supply the needed dental applicants. Yes! Then why didn't they apply? Probably because they decided to enter some other profession or line of work. Today, competition for high calibre students runs high in engineering, technology, the biological sciences and medicine. As a direct result, dentistry must develop a nationwide student recruiting program.

CHICAGO
MIDWINTER MEETING

Once each year during your annual meeting we have the opportunity to show what progress we have made in the highly specialized field of fixed crown and bridgework.

This opportunity for dentist and technician to discuss what was done or has happened during the past year and then consider what could transpire during the forthcoming year makes for a most constructive educational period.

We shall look forward to your visit at our booth.
